DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

- US Patent Application number (page 17, line 28) is missing.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 6 is objected to because of the following informalities:

- after "ink usage" (line 2) should insert -- which --.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 2861

Claim 1, is the control device different from the ink extraction determining device?

Claim 9, is the control device different from the monitoring device?

The remaining claims are also rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, for being dependent upon a rejected base claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

Claims 1, 2, 5-14, and 16-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Cook (US 6,155,664).

Cook discloses all the claimed features of the invention including:

- an inkjet printing system (Fig. 1) configured for receiving a replaceable ink container
(2), the replaceable ink container having ink extraction characteristics that vary with ink extraction (ink-specific information), the inkjet printing system comprising:

Art Unit: 2861

- an ink extraction determining device (36) for determining ink extracted from the replaceable ink container (90, 94);
- a control device (36) for selecting a print mode based on ink extraction characteristics of the replaceable ink container (92, print primary ink),
- the control device selects the print mode for selectively pausing printing (91) to reduce an average ink usage rate,
- the replaceable ink container has a gauge pressure characteristic based on ink usage varies with ink level within the ink container (negative pressure in 2 changes with ink level),
- the replaceable ink container has ink extraction characteristics that vary with ink level within the replaceable ink container (ink-specific information includes ink level information, column 5, lines 19-20),
- ink extraction characteristics are stored on an electrical storage device (12) associated with the replaceable ink container and wherein the ink extraction characteristics are provided to the control device after installation of the replaceable ink container into the inkjet printing system (Fig. 1),
- the information storage device is a semiconductor storage device (EEPROM or NVRAM device 12),
- a printhead (24) responsive to control signals for depositing ink on media and an ink delivery system (8) for delivering ink to the printhead (Fig. 1),
- a monitoring device (36) for monitoring ink delivered to the printhead by the ink delivery system (Fig. 1);

Art Unit: 2861

- the control device adjusts print rate based on a rate of ink deposited on media and a rate of ink delivered to the printhead (print or not print based on threshold level and drop count, column 11, lines 5-33),

- the monitoring device determines an amount of ink delivered to the printhead over a given time interval based on an extraction rate for an ink container that is determined based on ink remaining in the ink container (column 11, 34-46),

- the control device adjusts print rate to prevent the print rate from exceeding a rate of ink delivered to the printhead by more than a threshold value (does not print if drop count is less than a threshold level, 90, Fig. 4).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 3, 4, 15, and 21 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Reasons For Allowance

6. The combination and method as claimed wherein the control device selects the print mode from a plurality of print modes (claims 3, 4) or the control device adjusts print rate by selectively controlling numbers of nozzles activated (claims 15, 21) is not disclosed, suggested, or made obvious by the prior arts of record.

Art Unit: 2861
